Education

How would education work in a National Socialist America?

Answer:

- Education would be free to all citizens.
  - The first nine years would consist of general studies.
  - The first nine years would be open to all citizens.
  - In the tenth year students would be vetted towards their later goals in life.
  - Those who had the intelligence and aptitude towards "higher learning" would be prepped for college.
  - Those who's abilities tended more towards manual labor would be guided towards learning a skill.
  - By the time a person has graduated they would already have the training necessary to do something constructive.

How would education be paid for in a Nation Socialist America?

Answer:

The money that is currently being used to finance our wars, foreign aid, bailing wealthy bankers out, and thousands of other wasteful government programs would be redirected to useful programs such as education.

By reclaiming the money being waisted in our current system, a National Socialist America would use its tax revenues to help its citizens, without the need to raise taxes.

Our education is meant to give the Aryan Community, well-rounded by both education AND ability - citizens who will pay back through their ultimate SERVICE to the aforesaid community - the privilege that either received through their higher education and/or training in job skills. Instead of wasting all these monies, as this current Judeo-Capitalist society does - a National Socialist America will plough back its monies and resources into the people that made them in the first place! It will be a healthy and natural circle.
